

The New Iraqi Dinar Currency Story

In late October of 2003, a new currency was released in Iraq to replace the old currency with the picture of Saddam Hussein on it. There was a 90 day period in which to turn in old money for the new currency.

The new currency was printed by a company called De La Rue which is based in the UK. De La Rue is one of the premier printers of banknotes in the world. This new "Dinar" currency has lots of security features built into it. There is a horse-head watermark on all bills. All bills have an ultra-violet marking which can be seen only with ultra-violet light. There is also color changing ink, a strip similar to the American money, and raised or engraved printing. All these features make it almost impossible to counterfeit.

The denominations are: 25,000 dinar, 10,000 dinar, 5,000 dinar, 1000 dinar, 500 dinar 250 dinar and the 50 dinar notes. Word has it that a 10 dinar note is being prepared for release at this writing.

Even though the vast majority of people in the US do not know about the new currency, those who have found out about it are acquiring as much of this new currency as they can. They are doing this because they have found out that in 1990, just one Iraqi Dinar was worth approximately $3.20 in US currency.

Even though the value of the Dinar has doubled since it's issue in 2003, it is still at an all-time low as this is being written. Those who are acquiring the currency are doing so with the expectation that the currency will increase dramatically over the coming months and years. This increase in value could very well be in the thousands of percents! For example, an outlay of $200 could increase in value to over $100,000 dollars if the dinar goes to $1 per dinar. Should it go to $3 per dinar, the same $200 could become worth $300,000.

Iraq is rich in natural resources such as natural gas and oil as well as other materials. This country has the potential of being one of the richest countries in the world as are many of the surrounding countries. The value of the currency in these surrounding countries is very high. For example, Kuwait's money which is also known as "Dinar" is currently worth approx. $3.40 to one American Dollar.

The Iraqi Dinar, at this writing, May of 2006, is only a currency in Iraq. In order for the Dinar to become an International currency, the World Bank has to approve Iraq for membership. It appears that this is in the works right now and it may not be very long until it is approved.

Presidential order number 13303 gives Americans the right to invest in Iraq, so it is perfectly legal to accumulate some of this new Dinar.

Once Iraq becomes a member of the World Bank, it's currency will become an International Currency and can be used in world trade. It will be assigned a value to start off. Many believe that once it has been assigned a value, it will then begin to rise in value dramatically.

As we speak, a new Democratic form of government is being formed. Rebuilding is taking place. Many other countries are helping in the rebuilding of Iraq. Debts have been forgiven and money is pouring into Iraq.

You can consider yourself fortunate to have found out about the opportunity to own some of this New Iraqi Dinar Currency. As was said, over 99% of people do not know about it! To test what I'm saying, ask some of your friends if they have any of the New Dinar. They will look at you and ask what you are talking about.

Right now, a 1000 dinar note is only about $2. I would not wait too long if you want to get some. It could open on the World Market for 10 cents or 25 cents, making a 1000 dinar note cost $100 or $250, putting the dinar out of your reach!! This could happen in the next 2-3 months!! If you want some, don't wait. Get it NOW while you still can! When this opportunity is gone, it will be gone forever! All you will be left with is the memory of "what could have been."
